Chamber of Commerce Drive Makes History

ST. CLOUD SHOWS ORLANDO HOW BIG DRIVE WENT OVER

BOOSTERS VISIT NEIGHBOR TO CELEBRATE VICTORY OF CHAMBER

(By JACK HUGHES)
(In Tampa Tribune)

ORLANDO, Nov. 23.—C. C. Rolfe the newly chosen executive secretary of the St. Cloud, chamber of commerce, shoved the laurels of that fast-developing city a peg higher when, accompanied by the St. Cloud band, comprising a truck load of trumpeters, he invaded Orlando in big town style and set the civic boosters of Orlando agog at the new spirit of enterprise which has taken hold of Osceola's second largest municipality.

Secretary Rolfe thrilled his interviewers up here with an inspiring story of how the big chamber of commerce drive had been put over by St. Cloud business leaders. The goal had been set at $20,000, but today three working days after the campaign was launched, the subscriptions had far exceeded that mark. This was achieved by the novel procedure of getting down to business at the first rally and permitting no slack to interfere until the drive was a pronounced success.

At a band concert, Mr. Rolfe said a mass meeting developed, and before the discussion on ways and means had gone very far C. C. Hunter, owner of the new $250,000 hotel under construction, and developer of Gallon Gardens, arose and declared there was no need of anyone waiting for a drive; that the time to start was now."

He pledged 50 memberships, and was quickly followed by R. L. Stone, who likewise pledged the next 50 memberships. Dawley Brothers then offered a choice business lot, which was auctioned off and which brought $1,650. The St. Cloud Realty Company following Dawler Brothers' auction offered another lot, and it brought $850. Another lot, donated to the drive and which was located on one of the many large lakes skirting the city, brought $2,600. Before the initial rally closed upward of $10,000 had been subscribed. Friday and Saturday's drive into the "field" sent the $20,000 quota substantially beyond that figure.

PROGRESSIVE GARAGE PROPERTY SOLD FOR $75,000

During this week The St. Cloud Real Estate and Investment Co., by H. L. Godwin, sold the property of A. T. Meeker known as the Progressive garage to the B. L. Steen Co. for $75,000. There is not a more desirable location in St. Cloud than this half block together with the substantial buildings. Mr. Meeker will remain for the present in the living apartments until he can get a home built.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

The Church school made a fine showing last Sunday morning. The attendance of 276 was an increase of 50 over that of a year ago. Mrs. Hickman's class of boys won the banner.

The congregations at both morning and evening services is rapidly growing. The auditorium was crowded at the evening service when the orchestra made its first appearance for the season.

Next Sunday morning Miss Clausen will be the soloist. At the evening service Mr. and Mrs. Philbott will give a "Silent" duet in the sign language. The orchestra will assist with the song service. The pastor will speak on "Spiritualism."

The ladies aid is completing arrangements for the annual bazaar and supper to be given at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Tuesday, December 8th.

MR. LUND SUCCESSOR TO HELEN ELLIS

About three weeks ago Mrs. Helen Ellis tendered her resignation as manager of the Interocean City in St. Cloud. She remained in charge until the appointment of Mr. Lund who has now assumed his duties.

Mrs. Ellis will continue on the sales force.

The only interesting thing about it is the fact that Benjamin F. Winter, who owns and is tearing down the house to build something suitable, came here a poor Jewish boy not long ago. He has had more fun out of that Vanderbilt house than Vanderbilt, who built it, ever had. Winter, who EARNS his money and power, enjoys both.

WANT BETTER ROADS FOR DEVELOPMENT OF SOUTH OSCEOLA LAND HOLDINGS

E. L. D. Overstreet, county chairman, is making arrangements to meet with the county board the first of the month and plan for better roads for the southern part of Osceola county. First announcement came Friday that a world famed organization is about to launch a plan for the development of 11,000 acres of southern Osceola land that at present it is almost impossible to reach except north from Okeechobee, as in many instances the southern Osceola roads are near impassable, it is said.

Congressman J. W. Summers, of the state of Washington who was a visitor here yesterday, was the one to announce that the world famed organization was about to start a city in southern Osceola county. Congressman Summers would not give the name of the firm, but stated that it as a New York organization with $100,000,000 to back up their development plans. Holdings of Mr. Summers to the extent of 5,000 acres are immediately west of the lands of the New York syndicate.

In the 11,000-acre city development Mr. Summers stated it was the plan of the New York company to lay out a city site, construct two beautiful lakes where the land is generally low and develop an 18-hole golf course. It is said they will advertise the development by a single statement on their merchandise that is sold in every city and village in the country.

A few state road will soon be cut through the company's holdings running from Vero Beach to the Kissimmee river. Here it will be joined by roads leading directly to Frostproof, Lake Wales and Babson Park.

There is considerable development planned and started along the Kissimmee river that is being retarded by the fact that at some seasons it is only accessible by the water route which is clogged at times. With good roads extending into the southern part of the county and a through water route open at all times, Osceola county's southern projects will soon attain state recognizance.

Good roads are essential to the development of the land in the southern part of Osceola County. It is regretable that the only good inroad to the company's holdings is from Okeechobee but it is hoped that this situation will be ironed out to the advantage of Osceola county soon.—Gazette.

ALL HELP KEEP STREETS CLEAN

Now that arrangements have been made to sweep the streets in the business section on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mornings great assistance can be given the street force if on these days owners of cars will park in alleys as the motor powered sweeper requires that cars be removed in order to make a clean sweep. This will save much time, if this assistance can be rendered.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED OUT AT NOON HOUR

While the fire laddies were at dinner the whistle blew and before you could say jack Robinson the truck was on its way to the fire, which was a shed in the rear of the Jones Apartment house, but it was soon extinguished.

Mrs. Evans, of Pittsburg, Pa. who is the widow of Dr. Evans, who was a Presbyterian minister, also a veteran, came to St. Cloud on Wednesday and is stopping with Mrs. Ashley on Pennsylvania and Sixth streets.

STORES ENTERED MON. NIGHT; BURGLAR APPREHENDED TUES.

On Monday night there was a burglary in St. Cloud, a thing that has been hitherto practically unknown. The rear door of the Crawford Electric Shop on New York avenue, was broken in by thieves who thought that by this means of entrance could be obtained through a partition door. Upon finding there was none they hastily made exit and went to the rear door of the Roberson's drug store and gained admission by breaking in the door and succeeded in getting away with the loot. When night police, Alex Horn, discovered the door had been broken in he started at once on the trail of evidence for the one who was responsible for the theft and was not long in apprehending the guilty party.

The evidence of guilt was traced to Bernard E. Schwag, who was paying bills with nickles and dimes in the pool hall the next day. When Chief Egley came on duty they went to the home of Criss Rummell where young Schwag was rooming, and placed him under arrest although he maintained his innocence. When the Chief picked up his pillow the stolen articles began to fall out, and after further search found the following articles: three fountain pens, one set pen and pencil, one manicure set in leather case, two ever ready flash lights, one ingersol watch in gold case, one pipe, two cigarette holders, pocket comb gem safety razor box of face powder, box of candy, box cigars and about seven dollars in money.

Although Schwag denied any knowledge of the theft, the evidence which was self-convicting and he made a clean breast of the matter implicating with him Frank Krieger. Found among his possessions was also a discharge from a prison which he left on Sept. 25th, coming to St. Cloud, where he has since been working on the city water mains and for Francis Sayer the builder.

It is the belief of the authorities that he done this work single-handed, and that there is no Frank Kreiger. He was taken to Kissimmee and will remain in jail until Circuit court convenes.

SCHOOL NOTES

Everyone is planning to have a "big time" over Thanksgiving vacation. The entire student body is expecting to attend the last football game of the season, Thursday afternoon. All those who went to the Football game in Winter Haven reported of having an enjoyable time. Although our boys were defeated to a score of 18 to 0 they have not lost any of their enthusiasm and are working hard for the Thanksgiving game. Our halfback, Clarence Ligget and our tackle Tobe Bass who were not in the game last Friday will be back playing with all the pep they have.

Wednesday morning after the chapel exercises the ladies of the W. C. T. U., presented to each teacher of the faculty a Bible. This has long been the need of the school as we have had only one Bible that we could say was our own, that being given to us at the dedication of the High School building two years ago. We want to thank each and everyone of these ladies who do everything they can do better our school.

"Assembly"

The Assembly program last Wednesday, Nov. 18 was in charge of the Eighth Grade. Before the program commenced, Mr. Rolfe outlined the plan of the Chamber of Commerce drive, and urged the pupils to do their best in helping it on. The program took the form of a one act play. The characters were dressed in costumes of olden times like those worn in the days of chivalry. The acting was well done, and showed much talent. The royal family in the play was entertained by jesters and dancing girls who provided much fun for the audience.

The play ended in a very tragic manner. The characters which included the queen, Mary Parker, the King, Mary Belle Pixton, the Princess, Frances Conn, Her suitor, the Prince, Jay Johnson, and Lorenzo, the villian played by Theo George all either committed suicide drank poison, or were treacherously murdered.

The pupils of the Eighth grade are to be complimented on presenting a program which provided fun and entertainment for all yet at the same time gave the students an insight into the court life dress and customs of a historical period.

ANY VETERAN who could use warm coats, vests and underwear may be supplied by seeing Miss Hunter, the Red Cross nurse. The Red Cross office has been moved to the W. C. T. U. Temple.

Goal Set for New Memberships and Funds for Next Year Reached Before Closing Date of Drive---More Than Twenty Thousand Dollars Pledged and Largest Membership in History of City Secured

The membership drive of the St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce which closed Saturday night, made history for civic activities in this city. Some time before the end of the time set for closing the drive it was certain that the quota set would be exceeded when the final tabulations were made.

More than twenty thousand dollars were pledged, and much of it paid with the subscriptions and memberships exceeding one thousand were obtained.

The program mapped out by the Chamber of Commerce to aid in publicity for the city and public improvements in providing better entertainment for the increasing number of visitors, had been announced, and the generous response indicates that these plans met with almost unanimous approval.

After several meetings of the team captains in perfecting plans for a systematic canvas of the city, one of the most enthusiastic mass meetings ever held in the city occurred on last Thursday evening at the city park.

The program for the mass meeting started with several numbers rendered by the St. Cloud Orchestral band, and then President Wm. Landiss of the Chamber of Commerce announced the purpose of the meeting.

Secretary Rolfe then explained the great benefits of membership in the Chamber of Commerce and introduced Mr. G. C. Hunter for an address. Mr. Hunter requested that Mrs. Rolfe precede his talk by singing a solo, which he thought would lend inspiration to what he would say.

Mr. Hunter, although a resident of St. Cloud for only about eight months said that he had seen marked improvement in the city during that time and if such good results could be obtained without money, there was no end the good work that would be accomplished with ample funds.

Secretary Rolfe introduced two of his friends from Winter Park, Mr. and Mrs. Ed McConnell, who proceeded to bring mirth to every one within hearing of their selections.

After the delightful vaudeville program, Mr. Hunter expressed his delight, and said "Why wait until tomorrow to raise the money?" He started off the good work by taking $500 in memberships for the Hunter Company, and he was followed by a subscription of fifty membership by B. L. Steen Co., also recent additions to the city's business life.

This started the enthusiastic drive and within thirty minutes more than ten thousand dollars had been subscribed.

Residence lots were donated by St. Cloud Real Estate and Investment Co. A. H. Haymaker, Cherry Beach Co. and Dawley Bros. to be sold for the benefit of the Chamber of Commerce. These wre auctioned off by Mr. McConnell. At the end of this successful sale Mr. Hunter announced that if Mr. McConnell would come to St. Cloud he would build an up-to-date theater for him. This challenge was accepted by Mr. McConnell.

Real Drive Staied Friday

Filled with enthusiasm from the fine mass meeting held on the evening before the teams started out full of vim on Friday morning. They were preceded through the city by the band on a large truck, their music calling everyone's attention to the fact that the drive was on in earnest.

At noon Friday the workers gathered at the Chamber of Commerce rooms for lunch and again in the evening a six o'clock oyster supper was served, when reports were made Five thousand dollars had been added to the work of the night before, making three-fourth of the quota set for the drive.

An old-time love-feast and testimony meeting was held that will long be remembered by those present. The fact that in reality the St. Cloud yell. "Bigger and better every day," is now possible, brought forth expressions of joy from all.

Saturday the workers continued in full force and in the afternoon another auction was held at Tenth and New York avenue, conducted by Mr. K. T. Noland, expert auctioneer, when other property donated was sold for good prices. Starting off by selling a one dollar bill to C. A. Bailey for forty dollars; a ten dollar bill to T. G. Moore, for $25; and a five dollar bill to S. W. Porter for ten dollars Mr. Noland had many good bidders when the lots were offered.

Lots were donated by S. W. Porter, J. J. Johnston, Gallon Gardens, John F. Bailey, G. C. Hunter, Sunset Beach, Frank Patten, and Consolidated Realty Co., Drayton and Hill lot in Narcoossee Tiger Beach Co., Lot by Mr. Riese, and A. W. Hall.

Secretary Rolfe expressed the appreciation of the Chamber of Commerce to Mr. Noland for the kind words and timely assistance given.

The total amounts raised was ----

Drive Results.

Another large crowd was in attendance at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon and business meeting at the Commerce rooms at noon Wednesday. Owing to the big drive the Secretary or his assistants have not had time to prepare the minutes of the last meeting. While all were standing Dr. Hall was asked to say grace.

Mrs. Rolfe pleased the audience once more by her sweet singing. The following introductions were made: G. C. Hunter presented the new city Manager, Geo. Mitchell and his wife, and Miss E. Kraemer. Mr. G. A. Bleech introduced his brother, Mr. C. A. Bleech and Mrs. John A. Jeffreys introduced Mr. Brownlee, of Toronto, Canada.

Secretary Rolfe then made plain that it was now necessary to have a different way of handling the money and the spending of same and requested that a finance committee be appointed for this purpose and on motion and duly seconded the chair appointed G. C. Hunter, G. A. Bleech and Dana Eiselstein on this committee, and instead of issuing checks a voucher will now be issue signed by the chairman of this committee and President Landiss and Secretary Rolfe thus having a duplicate in the Secretary's office at all times.

On motion of Vice President Moore that all standing committees, except road and Mr. Seymore, the commissary chairman be discharged, now that it will be necessary to reorganize the working force owing to the increased membership. Mr. Moore suggested that a rising vote of thanks be given Secretary Rolfe for the supreme effort put forth in putting over this mammoth undertaking. Mr. Hunter suggested that it would now be necessary to have new and better laws and on motion that a committee for this purpose be appointed including the president and two others the chair added S. W. Porter and G. C. Hunter.

When Secretary Rolfe made the report that the total amounts received was $20,550, from this drive and still they are coming, the expressions of joy could not be suppressed, as Miss Hunter, the Red Cross nurse brought in the report of the colored people of Ashton and Narcoossee as follows: Those who gave one dollar each, Farlista Davis Sallie Rice, Rev. E. H. McNorton, Hester Youngblood, Sophia Bell, Chanie Davis, Bettie Davis, Adaline McCloud, Rev. Wm. Short, Gertrude Cook, Dejlia Gore and Pink Morris, making a total so far of $21.

Secretary Rolfe spoke of the publicity of this drive and of the ten men members of the band that went with banners to neighboring towns announcing the results in fifteen different state papers. And from the Orlando Reporter-Star he read the announcement of the opening of the new radio station at Rollins college next Monday under the direction of Ed McConnell, W. D. D. O. where the St. Cloud Orchestral band will play from nine 'till ten-thirty. By pulling together of the people of St. Cloud, this large membership means for our city much future usefulness and every citizen of St. Cloud should be justly proud of this wonderful success.

Mr. Frank Rothrock, of Terre Haute, Ind., has arrived in the city.

Stop Using Liniments that Only Burn and Irritate

Mexican Mustang Liniment Penetrates to the Bone but Never Smarts or Blisters

When a liniment burns and smarts and almost blisters the skin, it usually means that it contains some strong irritating substance. It isn't necessary for the right kind of liniment to be so strong and drastic. A liniment is supposed to penetrate direct to the seat of pain—to blister the skin surface does not help that deep-seated rheumatic ache or a lame back.

You should use Mexican Mustang Liniment—just try it once and you will never be without it. You will marvel at its strange power to relieve pain without burning and blistering. Every home should have this magical pain reliever—it heals cuts, burns, wounds etc. Druggists and whoever sell Mustang Liniment or can get it for you.

CONSTRUCTIVE ERA HAS SET IN, SO A SARASOTA WRITER SHOWS SKEPTICS

"How long will the Florida boom last?" is a rational question and one loaded with subtle satire. The reply to this interrogation written by P. H. Ellis of The Sarasota Realty Board deserves reproduction. Here it is:

"There is undoubtedly in Florida today some speculation and some trading based on what might be called 'sentimental excitement.' This, however, is inevitable in a country which is growing in popularity and building construction so fast that it is impossible to keep up with the pace. There is nothing artificial about Florida's development. It is backed by real values, human and material. The number of new buildings and homes now being erected in every city and town of the state is almost beyond comprehension, and when the fact is taken into consideration that every new citizen adds thousands of dollars to the wealth of a community, the advance in real estate does not seem phenomenal.

"To appreciate Florida, its merits need but be seen. The man who says it will reach the peak of development within three or five years, has not observed the trend of American migration, or he simply doesn't know what he is talking about. Florida is now experiencing a boom, due to the great influx of people and capital attracted to this favored region. When is it going to end? Listen, and I will tell you: 'Just as soon as you or I can find a similar country as near the center of population as Florida, then we might expect the tide to turn. But there is no such country, you say: all right, you have answered the question.

"Ever since our development attracted nation-wide attention, the same pessimists have cried out, 'It can't last; what goes up must come down.' This may be so in many things, but not in land with potential wealth. Manhattan Island once sold for $24, bought from the Indians. The land went up; it has not come down. Why? Development started, progress, constructive era set in, and lo and behold today, the greatest of all cities. This is taking place in Florida today.

"There is nothing artificial about the great imigration to every section of the peninsula. It is a spontaneous movement, just as was the nineteenth century exodus to the west, or the more recent migration of Northeastern people to the Pacific Coast. Moreover, I am firmly convinced that there will be no end to the demand for Florida real estate for many years to come, if ever. As the national and individual wealth increases, there will be more demand for property in a region blessed with a wonderful climate and illimitable natural resources, because there is nothing under the sun that can stop the average Americans' desire for comfort.

"Florida is not being overdeveloped by any means, it is just about beginning to come into its own. Nothing but an unforeseen act of Providence, or an international catastrophe can stop its advancement in material progress and in moral and intellectual development.

"Every good citien adds to the value of land and the class of residents who are now establishing homes and farms in this state, practically a stability quite unique in the history of American development.

"Today, Florida is the most substantial state in the Union. In fertility and variety of agricultural resources it is unexcelled. There is some poor land. There is in every state, but all of our land can be made profitable, if utilized according to its adaptability. Its climate is just as pleasing and salubrious in summer as in winter. In intelligence and enterprise, its people have no superiors in any American commonwealth. Why, then, should any human being of ordinary mental capacity, talk about 'what goes up must come down?' A boom as the term is understood, is an artificial movement, with nothing back of it except speculative excitement. There is nothing artificial about Florida's development merely an awakening of the American people that there is right at our back door (thirty-six hours average) a country as rich as the banks of the river Nile, where blizzards and coal strikes and excessive summer heat and prostrations have never yet come within our borders. There are ten million people on the American continent, able to take advantage of this 'Promised' land and they are surely on their way."

TOBACCO DUST WILL FERTILIZER LAWNS AND CONTROL CHINCH BUGS

Cheap tobacco dust, applied as a fertilizer to lawns of St. Augustine grass, will also control chinch bugs, a serious pest of lawns. Several liberal applications per year should be made. Suitable tobacco dust, such as is frequently used in mixing commercial fertilizers, may be obtained from fertilizer dealers. This remedy has been satisfactory employed during the past several years by Dr. E. W. Berger, entomologist of the State Plant Board, and others.

Dr. Berger says that approximately 1,000 pounds per acre has been the rate of each application. If the presence of chinch bugs has already resulted in brown areas in the lawn, it is recommended that a heavier application of the dust be made for a foot or two around and beyond the edges of such areas.

If it is desirable to give the lawn a more definitely balanced fertilizer, this may be done by making additional applications of ammonium sulphate or acid phosphate. Deficient fertilizer ingredients could be added directly to the tobacco dust and all applied together.

Fertilizer dealers should be capable of compounding any desired mixture with the amount of dust above mentioned as the base.

HERE ARE SOME FACTS TO TEMPT INVESTORS

The following "Florida Sunbeams" were compiled by the state department of agriculture and contain facts of general interest to all intending to invest or locate in Florida:

Florida has more sunshine in winter and less in summer than the shortest day in the year is only about northern states. In Florida the three hours shorter than the longest day, but along the northern border of the United States there is a difference of nearly eight hours. This in part accounts for the mildness of Florida winters and the coolness of Florida summers. The Gulf Stream brushes the southeastern shores of the state and also modifies the climate.

Florida has the oldest permanent white settlement in the United States. It is the last state of the Union to be developed.

It as 35,155,960 acres; 2,841,605 acres are in water.

It lies between 24 degrees, 36 minutes and 31 degrees north latitude, and 79 degrees 48 minutes and 87 degrees 38 minutes west longitude.

It has a thousand miles of coast line.

Its rainfalls is 56 inches nearly five feet.

It is the largest state east of the Mississippi River except Georgia. It is equal in area to Maine, Vermont, Connecticut and Rhode Island—four times as large as Holland.

Its elevation is from tidewater to over three hondred feet.

Its mean annual temperature is from 68.8 to 72.3.

Its highest temperature for thirty years was 107.

Its lowest was 11—1895 and 1918.

It has only 2,500,000 acres in actual cultivation. From these acres there are shipped from the state 84,000 carloads of products annually. From 150,000 acres in bearing citrus trees there was a gield in 1923-24 of 20,000,000 boxes of fruit.

Florida has 6,242 miles of railroads.

Florida leads all the states in the production of Winter-grown vegetables.

In a recent issue of the Tampa Tribune it was stated that Fort Myers was preparing a map of that city 1,000 feet square. Truly a gigantic project to make a map containing a million square feet. Probably Fort Myers will construct a building 1,000 feet high on which to hang this map or are the Fort Myers people so ignorant that they don't know the difference between 100 square feet and the 1,000 feet square.

Cities Are What Men Make Them.

—That is what the American Eagle of Exter, has to say about it:

Cities are what men make them,
Wherever the cities may be,
Whether out on the desolate desert,
Or set by the surging sea.

Though they cleave to the breasts of mountains,
Or nestle by rivers broad,
Cities are what men make them
On the land that is given by God.

So take up your task as you find it,
Nor grumble at what you have not;
Be one of the men to make greater,
The place where you cast in your lot.

If the ocean should threaten to whelm you,
Build a dyke that will laugh at its might;
Cities are what men make them
Who are willing to labor and fight.

CHILDREN CAR-DRIVERS — AND THEIR PARENTS

Children who are permitted to drive motor cars not only are violators of a very proper law, but they also make their parents and guardians accessories, when permission to drive cars is granted or allowed. Under the law, an accessory is held guilty with the actual law violator. Some parents appear not to know this, or they forget, or, knowingly, are lawbreakers. In any instance they are to blame, and ought to be held more liable than their children ,to whom permission is given, and encouragement, as well, to violate a law that is right and proper, that is for the protection of all who have occasion to go upon the streets and roads.

The law very plainly says that children, under the age of sixteen years, shall not be permitted to drive motor vehicles that, even under the direction of the most experienced drivers, become instruments of death. The carrying of guns and pistols is forbidden by law, as it is discharging of same in populated places. What would be thought of or done with parents who deliberately placed loaded fire arms in the hands of boys and girls and told them, or even permitted them to go upon the streets and use them, regardless of the law? An automobile, driven by a child, is no less an instrument of death—proved to be such in numerous instances.

The time is coming, if already it is not at hand, when parents, who permit their children to drive motor cars in violation of the law, will be arrested and carried to court, along with their children who cause accidents, there to be charged with law violation an child responsible for the results o fthelr disobedience. There is just one way to avert this being done, and that is by parents themselves obeying the law and requiring similar obedience on the part of their children, insisting that the latter in no instance be permitted to sit behind the steering wheel of a car unless accompanied by a patent or older person, and rarely then.

Not only are parents guilty, in too law and public safety, but they are many instances, of permitting their children to drive cars, in defiance of teaching their off-spring to disrespect all law, encouraging them on the way to criminality. Can anything be more awful than to encourage a child to become a law violator and, very likely, a criminal? Is it not disrespect for the law of God and man that, to a very great extent, accounts for so very many of the youthful criminals of the present time, that quickly leads to minor crimes and on, even to murder?

It is no answer to say that for a child under sixteen years to drive a car is not criminal. It is violation of the law, and that's bad enough even if it stopped there. If no accident happened and no one should be seriously or fatally injured. But violation of one law, without correction, leads to others, and then it is too late to be sorry, or to enforce obedience. The damage has been done,not only to the victim but to the law violator as well.

Highest commendation is due to parents who prohibit their children from driving motor cars, as is forbidden by law. There are many such parents. Unfortunately, however, there are too many parents, many of them most worthy citizens, in other respects, who permit and encourage their children to violate his particular law, putting into possession of their children an instrument as deadly as a shotgun or a revolver and giving them permission to defy the law that stands for human safety, for the protection of life and property. For this there can be, and should be, only commendation and punishment, both deserved by all who will not obey the law.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

FILMS NIGHT SCENES OF BATTLE AT SEA

Frank Lloyd produced a number of most unusual scenes for his motion picture version of "The Sea Hawk," to play at the Popular Theatre, Dec. 2 and 3.

Among the many unique and beautiful photographic and dramatic scenes of the big production is a night sea battle between the large English frigate "The Silver Heron," commanded be Sir John Killigrew, and the Moorish galleass commanded by Asad, basha of Algiers, and bearing as passengers Sir Oliver and Rosamund, his sweetheart.

Sabatini's description of the attack and the chase which followed amounted to a brief paragraph, but to give action to the event in the making of the picture required many hours, the time and assistance of more than seven hundred men, two gigantic ships, a smooth sea, the wind from the west and a full moon, not to mention an innovation in motion picture photography. But Mr. Lloyd's version of the moonlight battle in "The Sea Hawk" was real and so stands out as one of the many noteworthy achievements in the visualization of the unusual drama.

FLEMING FILM AN ACTION-THRILLER

"THE DEVIL'S CARGO" HERE WITH STELLAR CAST

A story that has all the secury and all the atmosphere of the pioneer days of California without dragging in scene after scene of purely historical and geographical interest, is what is claimed for the new Paramount picture, "The Devil's Cargo" which will be shown next Saturday at the Popular Theatre.

The picture is an adaption of Charles Whittaker's "The River Boat." It's a highly dramatic story of California in 1850 when lawlessness ran riot, told in a forceful, straightaway manner.

The story deals with the advent in Sacramento of John Joyce (William Collier, Jr.) who comes to edit the local paper. He accidentally meets and falls in love with Faro Sampson and is greatly taken back when he learns that she is the daughter of a gambling hall proprietor.

Joyce is of a more or less puritanical frame of mind and sides in with the vigilantes and their plans to deport the city's undesirables. Faro learns of it and "squares things up" with Joyce by exposing him in a very unfavorable light. He and his sister are deported with the rest, as a result.

A river boat leaves Sacramento with a motley array of passengers gamblers, thieves, cut-throats. The captain is refused the privilege of landing at San Francisco. A mutiny breaks out. The ruffians take command and the dock is rammed and most of the passengers hop ashore. Faro, Joyce and a couple of others remain aboard as the boat, helpless drifts seaward.

Out on the Pacific in a flimsy river boat, an innocent girl and one good man surrounded by a human cargo—"the scum of the earth"—battle their way through and find their salvation in the end of what is as gripping a romance as anything you have ever witnessed on the screen.

Pauline Starke has the role of Faro in the production. She and Collier are featured with Wallace Beery and Claire Adams. Beery, it is said, gives a forceful characterization unlike anything he's ever done before.

There's a strong cast playing in support of the principals.

IN MEMORIAM

Charles W. Clark. In loving memory of my dear husband and father who departed this life one year ago today—Nov. 23 1924.

Relentless death among us comes,
And bitter grief imparts.
It takes beloved ones from our home,
But never from our hearts.
Sad, lonesome and brokenhearted.
Thinking dear one, of thee
And of the days ere we parted,
How happy then were we.

Mrs. Eleanore E. Clark, wife.
Mrs. Thelma E. Raymond, daughter.

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE ON A BURNING VESSEL

On the 17th, we were passengers on the Clyde Line steamer, Lenape, which had sailed from New York at 2:15 p. m.

All seemed to be well until 11:45 p. m. when the sleeping passengers were aroused by the ever to be dread fire alarm, and told to dress, and put on the life preservers. The fire was still confined to the hold, near the stern of the vessel, and very little smoke had found its way above, hence there was very little confusion, nearly all, far as we saw, being very calm. We were kept on deck for three hours, in a chilling wind, while the crew fought to subdue the fire. The lifeboats were lowered to a point a little below the deck rail, but we awaited orders from the officers before getting into them. The order was not given until the stern end of the upper deck was in flames.

The passengers then, with unusual calmness, considering the situation, began filling the boats, and after all had been filled, there were some forty still left, but they took the situation very cooly, although the flame was rapidly advancing, and very soon the pilot boat Philadelphia ran along side and took them off.

A fireman from New York city who was one of the passengers scented the fire, as early as seven o'clock and so informed the steward, but he took no action, and it was not until four and three quarter hours later that the officers discovered it, and sounded the alarm.

If the first warning had been heeded, the fire could, doubtless, been extinguished. When the distress call was sent out by wirless, four different vessels responded, but the captain declined their aid, and consequently, the vessel became a total loss, and all the baggage belonging to the passengers was lost also.

With the assistance of the coast guard vessels, we were landed at Lewes, Delaware and forwarded from there to Wilmington from whence we were sent by special train to Jacksonville.

This is the sixth vessel of the Clyde Line to be destroyed by fire in six years. That was an experience never to be forgotten and we are profoundly grateful to our Father for His gracious deliverance.

Thanksgiving Sermon at Union Service Today By Rev. B. Atchison

All Congregations Join For Observing Annual Thanksgiving Day at the Methodist Episcopal Church—Baptist Minister Preaches.

According to the usual custom, the churches of St. Cloud united in a union Thanksgiving service, which was held at the M. E. Church at ten o'clock this morning. Rev. B. Atchison, pastor of the Baptist church, preached the sermon, which was in part as follows:

"My subject for this morning is the "Thankful Heart".

"You will find the text in Eph. 5:20. 'Giving thanks always for all things, unto God and the Father, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.'

"We are all, no doubt, familiar with the origin of the day we are celebrating. Thanksgiving Day is chiefly an American institution. I wonder why it has been so called? Is it because we, as a people, are more thankful than any other nation upon the earth? Is it by reason of the fact that all of the poverty of Europe might be supplied out of America's fullness?

"The story of the first Thanksgiving service, briefly told is something like this. About 300 years ago, near the small town of Boston, a little group of early settlers of our country were suffering dire distress. Many even were dying, for they had been used to lives of comparative ease in England. The food supply was running low and the sparse soil was yielding slender crops. Immediately upon his arrival, Governor Winthrop despatched the good ship "Lyon" with Captain Wm. Pierce to bring food from Bristol, England.

"Months passed and the ship did not return. The people were on the verge of starvation, some had already passed away. But after long delays due to the scarcity of corn Captain Pierce managed to secure the necessary provisions and returned in time to save many lives. His coming led to the celebration and feast of thanksgiving such as we are now observing.

"In 1621 the New England colony held their first American Thanksgiving after the reaping of the first harvest and in 1789 the first Presidential proclamation was issued by George Washington after the signing and adoption of the constitution. Presidential proclamations followed intermittently until the civil war, when several were issued by Abraham Lincoln during that period.

"Since 1863, they have appeared annually and the observance of the day has become general throughout the land. I am sorry to say that Thanksgiving Day does not always mean, giving thanks unto God. In some circles it stands for foot ball, with others it is a day of "feasting" instead of fasting and prayer, while perhaps with the majority of people it is a holiday instead of a holy day. It is a lamentable fact that of late, the day has been losing much of its original, ancient authority and religious character. The same can also be said of the weekly Sabbath or the Lord's Day.

"While they are a great multiplication of legal holidays, there are two special days of peculiar interest and ought to be preserved in a foremost place on our national calendar. Those days are the Fourth of July and Thanksgiving Day. The one (patriotic in character) and comemorating the independance of our nation from a foreign yoke, while the other is religious in character and recognizing our dependence upon Almighty God as the giver of every good and perfect gift.

"In our text we see that it is not only our privelege but our duty to return thanks to God. There is more written in the Bible about giving thanks than there is about prayer although both are closely related one to the other. Some people seem to think and act as though they were under no obligation whatever to the Almighty and apparently had nothing to thank God for. God is left out of all of their thought, their plans and their life. No family altar in the home, no returning thanks at the table for the God given bounties they partake of, not even a smile of recognition of their dependence upon God for the very life they possess as well as the blessings they enjoy.

"The spirit of ingratitude is one of the worst symptoms of our fallen nature. If we could only stop and think I am sure that we would be more grateful. A father took his little daughter out walking one summer evening, the stars were shining bright pretty soon the little girl said 'Papa, I am going to count the stars,' so she began to count and went on until she had counted over 200 and then she looked up into her father's face and said, "O Papa, I never dreamed that there were so many.'

"We remember too often the things we ought to forget, and we often forget altogether too easy the things we ought to remember. If there is only one week of cool weather here in Florida some folks will complain and forget all about the months of glorious sunshine and health giving climate that God has given us.

"There is a very close relation between the words 'Thankful and Thoughtful,' in fact they are both derived from the same root-word. There is also a distinction to be made between the words, 'Thanksgiving and Praise.' We thank people for what they do for us, (their gifts) but we praise them for what they really are in their charmeter.

"Real gratitude and thanksgiving implies far more than offering a few words of praise with our lips at certain seasons of the year, it also implies a corresponding life with certain feelings and actions toward God and our fellowmen that are in harmony with our songs of praise. If our gratitude is shown by mouth only it proves that our religion is of a false brand, and our worship little less than mockery while we are looked upon by God and angels as hypocrites. May God deliver us from such an empty profession.

"Our text suggests the wide range of our thanksgiving—'For All Things,' second, the appointed time—'Always'; third, the source and object of our praise—'God the father; and fourth, the Divinely appointed and the only acceptable way—'In the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ.' Our obligation in this matter is clearly implied when we consider that God is the creator of all things including man and then after man's failure to measure up to the responsibility resting upon him and become a victim of sin and death, God then provides redemption for every one of us through the death of His Son. He also becomes our daily provider and because of these facts we are all under obligation to return thanks to God. The heavens declare the glory of God, all responds in harmony with the divine program, the birds of the air sing praise to their creator, the horse, the cow the dog and even the pig respond to the divine instinct and show some measure of appreciation for their daily provision.

"We delight to honor the soldiers that fights for us in battle and it is right that we should do this but shall we forget to honor Him who laid down His life that we might live forever? God forbid. O that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men. Our text gives us the range, or extent of our thanksgiving. (For all things). Who can possibly enumerate all of the blessings for which we should return thanks? Surely we should be thankful for home and country; food and shelter; loved ones and friends; liberty to worship God according to the dictation of our own conscience; liberty to voice our sentiments in all matters of religion and politics; liberty to choose our own ruler and the men that make our laws; surely we have great reason to thank God for temporal prosperity even far above all other nations of the earth; that our nation has been preserved throughout the year in peace and in a good measure free from inter-national strife that leads to war and the shedding of blood; and above all other things we should thank God for that 'Unspeakable Gift,' of Eternal Life through Jesus Christ our Lord, and for the blessed hope of his coming again to receive his people and to establish his kingdom here among men.

"Yes for all things, national and inter-national; natural and super-natural; ordinary and extra ordinary; positive and preventative; public and private; present and future; the bitter as well as the sweet. Someone may ask the question: "Should we thank him for trials, sorrow afflictions and disappointments?" Yes even these are included in the 'All things.' At least we should thank God that they are not any worse than they are, for sufficient grace and patience to be able to bear them and for the rich lessons that may be learned through them. We should always read Rom. 8:28 in connection with our text Eph. 5:20 which would read something like this: "Giving thanks always for all things unto God, and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ: For all things work together for good unto those that love God, who are called according to his purpose."

"The text also suggests the Divinely appointed time or period for our thanksgiving (always). Thanksgiving unto God is always in order. Not only on Thanksgiving day and on Sunday or prayer-meeting but at all times and under all circumstances. It is a good thing that the President of the United States together with all of the Governors have issued their proclamations setting aside one day of the year as a day of National thanksgiving unto God for his mercies. It speaks well for our leaders to do this. Perhaps some people never would be reminded of their obligations if it were not for this fact. We all need to be reminded of our duty, lest we too forget. Can you imagine an infidel or skeptic issuing such a proclamation? Some claim that Abraham Lincoln was a skeptic, perhaps he was in his earlier life, but when we read of the many times he was found on his knees in prayer and after the many proclamations issued by him as president, one cannot help but believe that down in his heart he was a true Christian and a real believer in the Lord Jesus Christ. We should always be in a happy mood of mind and embrace every opportunity of showing our gratitude to our heavenly Father for all of his goodness to us.

"Some people seem to spend all their time living on Grumble Alley how much happier they would be if they would only move over on Thanksgiving Boulavard. I am sure there is plenty of room for all that want to dwell there.

"It is easy to praise God when we are on the Mountain-top but it also is possible to show our gratitude to him while traveling through the valley.

"The source and divine object of our praise is given in the text: (Unto God the Father). As I have already said, God is our Creator, Redeemer, Provider and Preserver, therefore we are under obligation to him for every blessing that we have or ever expect to have. In him we live and move and have our being; why should we not as the Psalmist says—Call upon all that is within us to praise and magnify his holy name?

"In closing the text also suggests the manner of approach or how to return thanks unto God. (In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.) We have no other method, or way of approach to Almighty God. He alone is the Savior of the world, the one mediator between God and man, the one that has made peace through the blood of his cross, the one that ever liveth to make intercession for his people the one who is coming some day to receive us to himself, in his precious name, (who is worthy of all our praise) in that name that is above every other name let us give our thanks to God, for all things upon this thanksgiving day."

For all that God in mercy sends;
For health and children, home and friends.
For comfort in the time of need.
For every kindly word and deed,
For happy thoughts and holy talk
For guidance in our daily walk.
For everything give thanks.
For beauty in this world of ours,
For verdant grass and lovely flowers
For song of birds and hum of bees,
For the refreshing summer breeze,
For hill and plain, for streams and wood,
For the great ocean's mighty flood,
For everything give thanks.
For the sweet sleep that comes at night,
For the returning morning's light,
For the bright sun that shines on high,
For the stars glittering in the sky,
For these and everything we see
O Lord, our hearts we lift to thee,
For everything, give thanks.

GOOD MEETING AT NARCOOSSEE

The Young people of the St. Cloud Baptist church put on a Thanksgiving program at the church in Narcoossee Baptist church last Sunday afternoon. The church was pretty well filled with people, about fifteen cars coming from St. Cloud. The program was well rendered and everybody seemed to enjoy the service. A lasting impression was made on the people of their obligations unto God for his wonderful gifts to the children of men. Many expressed the hope that the young people might come out again in the near future and put on another program.

FAREWELL TO ELDER AND MRS. HANER

About forty of the members of the Christian Church met for a social hour with Elder and Mrs. Haner on Tuesday evening. This was a farewell with for the pastor and his good wife, who leave us to take another charge at Hampton, Fla. This last evening will linger long in the memory of all.

Refreshments were served of sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee.

Boy Scout Conference Held in St. Cloud For Central Florida District

One of the most interesting meetings held in St. Cloud this season was the assembling of the executive heads of the boy scouts of Lake, Orange, Seminole, Volusia, Brevard and Osceola on Monday Nov. 16th at the Chamber of Commerce rooms with a noon banquet. Karl Lehman, Executive head of Orange county presided. This meeting was of unusual interest. Mrs. C. C. Rolfe accompanied by Mr. Driscol rendered two beautiful solos. Chairman Karl Lehman in brief well appointed remarks, about object of meeting, of six counties in behalf of the Boy Scouts of America that boys like men are always ready to join and of the many organizations that have come and gone the boy scouts has been the organization that has stood the test and as a result to maintain became necessary to have paid staff with office in New York. Also to get best possible results to have trained leaders.

With President Coolidge and past presidents as honorary members this is proof of need of training of our boys with future needs of such positions of trust and good citizenship. In order for an executive to be employed in position of leader he is required to have at least two years training. In this council of six counties any one desiring to be a member can do so by the payment of ten dollars. There will be an election of Officers at the annual meeting to be held about the middle of December the date of which is to be announced at an early date. Judge Don Cheney, Judge of the juvenile court was introduced by Pres. Lehman who spoke of the Scout that had been rendered the Scout cause by the Judge lending assistance of executive force of his office as well as financial assistance and that possibly no one in the work had had better opportunity to handle the subject of Juvenile delinquency better than the Judge who said he became interested in the boy scout work about six years ago when the office of probation was forced upon him, which was the beginning of a wide field which proved to be of profound interest and as many opportunities had since presented themselves of which was the Conference of National Publishers at Denver all of which has given a wide range in handling the problems of delinquency in children and cure for same. That only one boy that was a member of the boy scouts has ever appeared before him in his court. This boy had been accustomed to go into a certain home and on this particular day went in to get a drink and seeing a dollar laying there picked it up and afterwards was arrested by the neighbor and when the Judge asked him if they did not have a boy scout club in his town said, yes sir, and I am a member and when asked what the rules were readily replied and when asked if he was ready to again repeat with the Judge the pledge gave assent after which the Judge showing his confidence in the boy let him go and although that has been some years ago the boy has been true to his pledge. Should the boy have been handled as a criminal it is not possible to know to what depth he might have fallen, had it not been for the sympathetic dealings of the Judge.

To get a hold of the boys mind and heart and physical energies, the gang can easily be transferred to the wonderful principles of the Scout work. If the fathers would get behind the boys, and yet not too far behind this one thing alone would assure more splendid future manhood.

Sam Brammer county superintendent, although unexpectedly called upon as were others expressed appreciation of the interest displayed at this meeting and that the Scout movement in St. Cloud would go over big he felt assured.

Secretary Morrison was called upon to read the last months Scout activities some of the most important of which was in the cities where the traffic problems were turned over to the Boy Scouts to handle and in all cases reported had been most satisfactory. Especial mention was given to the efficient manner in which the boy scouts handled the traffic during the school teachers convention in Orlando, also the Orange county picnic. Rev. Wm. Landiss expressed a belief that there was not a more important issue before the people than the Scout work and he will be glad to see St. Cloud come to the front in this work. Mrs. James Laughlin, of Orlando when called upon said she came not as a speaker, but was proud of the acquaintance of the Boy Scouts in her city and she had found they do what they are asked, and what they promise. Principle Zetrouer expressed desire to see boy scout work active as club work is working wonders in our school work of five hundred pupils, three hundred of which are boys.

Wilford Brooklaw of Orlando, said one of the surest signs of progress in any community was the fact that they have an active boy scout, that Orlando boy scouts headed by such men as Judge Don Cheney and Karl Lehman who had come in close contact with the boys. He advised that if one was selfish enough from a business stand point alone there is nothing that would put a town on the map quicker than a boy scout program. And this has been proven and by investigation the live progressive towns and cities have live scout organizations. Mrs. Foster, of Tribune, introduced as friends of the boys responded by saying glad for the inspiration of this joint meeting of the six counties, glad to welcome anything that gives joy and builds our girls and boys and expressed a belief that St. Cloud as in all things will not overlook need of getting behind this movement.

In introducing Mr. C. F. Johnson, owner of the Tribune, Mr. Lehman said the press has been the greatest avenue of assistance in this great boy scout movement. Mr. Johnson gave a hearty welcome to the representatives and visitors at this meeting from the visiting counties. Secretary C. C. Rolfe, of the St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce and leader of Orchestrial band, etc., when called upon said we are almost at the zero hour of raising funds by increasing membership in the Chamber of Commerce, a large portion of which is to be used for the entertainment and advancement of our boys and girls and will be on the job to help push the boy scout work here in our city.

One who has been foremost in helping to instill scout principles in our boys and until over worked so had to let the work ing was I. Diefendorf, former scout master who was next to be called upon said he had received much encouragement from this meeting and felt sure that with Mr. Peterson who has been secured as scout master and the co-operation of the people of St. Cloud the success of St. Cloud boy scouts is assured.

The chair appointed a membership committee, Wm. Landiss, I. Delfendorf, Lilburn Godwin, L. M. Parker and Howard Dawley.

With pride Mr. Lehman spoke of the accomplishment of the Chamber of Commerce of Orlando, who since last July have been working to get the Federal High way to be brought through the center of the state and that during the past week this has finally been accomplished. Rev. Landiss as president of the St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce expressed gratitude for the accomplishment in bringing the road through this way and that St. Cloud stood ready if they had been called upon to have given any needed assistance.

At the executive meeting which followed after the minutes were read and treasurers report and the assignment of the different budgets the nominating committee was appointed to name the officers to be elected at the next meeting, which were Colo L. M. Shearer, of Pine Castle, Russel Field, Cocoa, Jeff Bailey, Eustice, Rev. Wm. Landiss, St. Cloud, Earl Brown, Delaud, and H. C. Dubois.

That Volusia County is to be divided into three counties and wish to have a council of their own which request was granted, to be known as the Halifax Council.

In closing Mr. Layman expressed his appreciation of the royal manner in which St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce entertained this executive meeting also taking opportunity to congratulate St. Cloud on being so fortunate in securing C. C. Rolfe as secretary.

BIG MOOSE MEETING HERE SATURDAY

The annual state meeting of the second degree of The Loyal Order of Moose, Seminole Legion No. 81, will be staged in St. Cloud on Saturday, November 28th and this will be the greatest fraternal gathering ever staged in our city.

Moose Legion members with their candidate from every Moose lodge in Florida will be here. It will be a gala day. St. Cloud is fortunate in being selected for this state meet. This selection was due to the fact that Kissimmee lodge No. 1492 is the "Baby" Moose lodge of Florida and this lodge was recently organized by Commander H. Gillian, National membership director of the Moose order.

Gov. John W. Martin, due to pressing business at the Capitol, will not be able to attend this meeting. Our Gov. Martin as well as virtually every Governor of the U. S. A. are active members of the Moose order.

Among some of the prominent men of the state who will attend this ceremonial will be Hon. Charles M. Hapham, District Superintendent; Judge Ramey McIntosh and many citizens of St. Petersburg. Judge Joseph Madison, Joseph Duffy, Stanley Lovell, John P. Couch, together with a big crowd from Jacksonville, Dr. P. Davis, Great North Moose and crowd from Palatka, A. W. Shaw and delegation from Dayton. Delegations from St. Augustine South Jacksonville, Cocoa, Melbourne, Ft. Pierce, West Palm Beach, Miami, Tampa and other towns.

The ceremonies will begin at 1:00 o'clock at Osceola—formerly Fish Lake, midway between St. Cloud and Kissimmee — refreshments will be served there until 7:30 o'clock at night, then all will go to G. A. R. hall at St. Cloud where the first degree will be conferred at 8:30 o'clock, then the evenings ceremonies will be held until morning.

The Emblems of Love picture will be shown at Palm Theatre on this day beginning at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

About five hundred dollars will be spent on the barbecue and refreshments for this day.

100-MILE RACE WITH COPS WITH LOSS TO KIDNAPPERS

Sunday, while Geane Joh-Foster was on his way to Sunday school, he was taken in a car by one H. W. Jacobs and his own father, Charles Joh, of Miami, Fla., and hurried east on the Melbourne Highway. As soon as the boy's mother could get in touch with Chief Egley, he and Roy Vandenburg whose car was called for the run, were after the kidnappers. This is the second time the boy had been kidnapped. Court proceedings in the case who should keep the boy were to be decided next month, yet that seemed too slow for Charles Joh, and he attempted to to take the matter in his own hands.

Chief Egley wired the Fort Pierce police and just as they had stopped the wild drivers they were over taken by Mr. Egley.

Fort Pierce police arrested Mr. Joh and turned him over to Chief Egley who brought him back and turned him over to the county authorities at Kissimmee.

The boy was returned to his almost distracted mother, Mrs. Will Foster.

The round trip was made in about five hours.

KISSIMMEE FIRM SELLS HOLDINGS NAMED PINEDALE

M. M. Miller, of the Miller & Williams Development Company announce the firm has sold its entire holdings to the Universal Land Company of New York.

About 50 acres were included in the tract sold to the New York concern at a consideration of $50,000. The tract, "Pinedale" adjoins Gilbert Park, southwest of Kissimmee. The Universal Land Company also owns large tracts of land in the vicinity of Cypress.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Rider, of Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., have returned to St. Cloud for the winter driving through with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Smith.

ST. CLOUD "PEP" INVADES ORLANDO

"Pep" from St. Cloud invaded Orlando and disported itself on the streets here yesterday, when a truckload of musicians, members of the St. Cloud band, and accompanied by C. C. Rolfe, executive secretary of the St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce, made their appearance and made things lively says Saturdays Sentinel.

Secretary Rolfe, when interviewed for the Sentinel, was enthusiastic over the results of the membership drive just put over by the Chamber of Commerce of Commerce of St. Cloud. The goal was $20,000, and this mark has already been surpassed, although the drive was started only last Thursday night.

At a band concert at that time, said Mr. Rolfe, mass meeting was held to discuss the drive, and G. C. Hunter, owner of the new quarter-million-dollar hotel now being erected there, and developer of Galion Gardens, arose and said there was no need of waiting for a drive, and called on those present to join. He pledged fifty memberships right there and then. He was quickly followed by R. L. Stone, who pledged fifty memberships. Then one of the Dawley Brothers arose and offered one of the best lots in the city's industrial section, which was auctioned off and brought $1,050. The St. Cloud Real Estate and Investment Co., offered a lot, which brough $850. A Cherry Beach lake front lot quickly brought $2,000. In all, $10,140 in cash was raised in thirty minutes. Since then ten lots that will bring not less than $7,900 were given.

The Chamber of Commerce is grateful to Ed and Grace McConnell, of Winter Park, for their contribution to the success of the meeting Thursday night. Their lively entertainment was an inspiration indeed, said Mr. Rolf. Mr. Hunter publicity pledged to build a $50,000 theatre in St. Cloud if Mr. McConnell would agree to run it.

Many novel plans are being used by the Chamber of Commerce of St. Cloud to promote the interests of the community. There is a Kiddies' Division", that has caused much comment. The children are given entertainment at the movies, and parties of different kinds. Older children from 15 to 20, receive support in their athletic activities. The Chamber takes care of the town's Boy Scout quota and Red Cross Roll Call, paying $1.000 for the latter out of its treasury. Plans are made to get in every person in St. Cloud, between the ages of 15 a[illegible]0 as members of the Chamber of [illegible]mmerce. One unique feature is to give every members an accident policy for $7,500. The result is, according to Secretary Rolfe, that St. Cloud is up and doing, Ith an activity not even dreamed of a short time ago.

City Improvement Work Progressing In St. Cloud Despite Freight Embargo

Despite the strict embargo that is now in force city Manager Mitchell has taken the matter of moving materials for City improvements up with the State Board of Health to relieve our sanitary conditions and their inspectors have been here.

During the past week the power mower has been in steady use mowing the grass on avenues and streets which has made a real transformation in the appearance of the city. This machine is also equipped with a street sweeper which will clean the streets a good deal better than when sweeped by hand and at a great saving in time. The opening of streets and avenues is going forward as rapidly as possible. Maryland and Virginia avenues have been opened — Fourteenth street has been opened ahead of the water main from Missouri to Alabama avenues. Cypress avenue has been opened but not graded; Third street has been opened east from Virginia avenue and graded. The next to be opened are Vermont, Jersey, and Wisconsin, from Fifth to Third streets.

Arrangements have been made to have the garbage and trash collected three times per week in the business section and tourist camp ground. A log drag used to relieve the roughness of the streets has also been added to the equipment and will be welcome news to all.

The city sore eye, the pound is being cleaned up and the refuse carried to the new pound at the extreme south west of the city.

Desiring to better the traffic conditions around the city the City Commission left the matter to the City Manager to establish certain Parking rules, and change from the present system.

"No parking signs" have been placed so that there will be no parking on the south side of Tenth street between Indiana and Illinois avenues. No parking on the North side of Tenth street, between Florida and Pennsylvania avenues. No parking on the north side of Eleventh street between Mass. and Penn. avenues. The signs have been posted.

The above streets are very narrow to park on both sides and have two-way traffic, so it is hoped that this will be a benefit and lesson the chance of any accidents.

KISSIMMEE CHAMBER SECURES NEW MANAGER TO TAKE DUTIES IN 30 DAYS

(Kissimmee Gazette)

H. A. Wheeling will be the new manager of the Chamber of Commerce at Kissimmee. After several weeks' correspondence and interviews with various applicants the board of governors, last Saturday met Mr. Wheeling in Kissimmee, and arrangements were made today to have him come to Kissimmee within thirty days.

Mr. Wheeling has had about fourteen years of commercial organization experience in executive capacities. For the past three years he has been secretary at Huntsville, Alabama, and although his people there want him to remain, he has the Florida "fever" and has accepted the Kissimmee management. Before going to Huntsville, he was for six years secretary at Augusta, Georgia, and before that, secretary at Rome for three and one half years. He was for one year executive officer of the Manufacturers' Association in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

From the standpoint of service, he is one of the oldest members of the Southern Commercial Secretaries Association, and one of the best known. He is vice-president of that organization. From a large number of applications, the board finally decided upon Mr. Wheeling as being the man best adapted to carry on the work at Kissimmee at this period of progress. With a wealth of constructive experience, backed by a thorough understanding of Chamber of Commerce work, the board feels he is the type of man who can best carry on the "Forward Kissimmee" program.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeling, with their four sons, ranging from six to thirteen years of age, are expected to arrive in Kissimmee in time for him to assume the management on December 15th.

Allison T. French, the outgoing manager, has held that office for the past fifteen months, having assumed it upon the resignation of Mr. Burrows, for the remainder of the fiscal year. At the beginning of the present fiscal year, last April, he resigned to go into private business, but the newly elected board unanimously asked him to stay. He made another effort to be relieved last September, and was promised a successor immediately at the conclusion of the $50,000 campaign. From then on, he has been staying on the job from week to week at the request of the board, while negotiations were pending for a new manager. Mr. French will continue throughout this week, and will give much as possible to the Chamber for the next three weeks, until Mr. Wheeling arrives, although he will assume his new position as publicity manager for C. A. Blair & company next week. Until that time Miss Louise Thompson, the assistant secretary, will be in charge of the chamber activities.

SISTER OF MRS. ANNA LATHROP DIES FROM INJURIES

Mrs. E. M. Marsh received injuries when struck by the fender of an auto which caught her coat and turned her over while on her way to church and although she was hurried to the hospital only lived three hours, among the relatives mention was made that she has a sister, Mrs. Anna Lathrop living in St. Cloud. Mrs. Marsh was organizer of the Improvement Club of her city and was an active member of the Woman's Relief Corps, the W. C. T. U. and a member of the First Congregational church. This sad news came as a terrible shock to Mrs. Lathrop.

Five Thousand Rochester Folks Coming to Florida This Winter

All Records to Fall Says Boat Agency Head.

Approximately 5,000 Rochestarians will migrate to Florida this winter, according to J. C. Kalbfleisch, president of the Kalbfleisch Steamship Company. Mr. Kalbfleisch reports that requests for reservations have been pouring in for the past few months and indications are that all previous migratory records will be passed.

The Kroonland, one of the largest ships in the service of the International Mercantile Marine Company, Inc., which has been making trips from New York to Antwerp, will be taken from the trans-Atlantic service and used for making trips from New York to Miami, according to information received yesterday by Mr. Kalbfleisch. The Kroonland is considered one of the finest ships afloat. It has a displacement of 22,250 tons and is 580 feet in length. It is expected that the ship will make its first Florida trip within a few weeks and continue throughout the winter. The boat will leave New York each Thursday.

The stream of tourists en route for Florida has already started but will not be in full swing until the middle of December, according to Mr. Kalbfleisch. It will continue through January, February and March. The Northerners begin to return home about April 1st. Rochester Times-Union.

SUNSHINE IS POWER, GIVING FLORIDA ADVANTAGE, SAYS BABSON

(Roger W. Babson.)
One of America's Greatest Statisticians, in Sunniland Magazine

We little realize the great value of sunshine.

There is so much of it in Florida that you fail to appreciate it, but sunshine is practically the basis of all wealth.

Not only are the crops of the world dependent upon sunshine; not only is sunshine the greatest factor in the health of communities; but sunshine is the basis of all power.

When we burn wood we only release stored sunshine; when we burn coal we merely liberate stored sunshine; and when we use water power we simply use the power of sunshine. It is sunshine which draws the water up into the clouds, these clouds break the water falling on the land, running down as streams, and these streams forming rivers developing great power on their way to the sea.

Experiments are being carried on today which may enable us to obtain this power directly from the sun without the run-about method of using wood, coal or water power. When this time comes it can really be seen what the development will mean to Florida.

A National Resource

But sunshine is only one of the natural resources which are the fundamentals of agriculture. The others are phosphate, sufficient moisture and closeness to markets. Florida leads all States in combining these four qualifications.

As the years go on all agriculture will be absolutely dependent upon phosphate. The automobile has practically made the horse extinct, and synthetic milk may likewise make the cow extinct. Our grandchildren will use reindeer meat instead of beef. Hence not only will our ground become more and more in need of fertilizer, but fertilizer will be limited to phosphate and chemicals with which we combine it.

Near Consuming Centers.

Florida has not only the sunshine an dthe phosphate, but it is nearer the great consuming centers of the country. Central Florida is only 750 miles from the center of population, compared with a distance of about 2,000 miles for California. Moreover, the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line railways realize this and will some day greatly profit thereby.

Perhaps the most valuable of all, Florida has an abundant rainfall and this rainfall comes at the right season. California has rainfall, but California's rainfall comes when it is not wanted for agricultural purposes, hence California must resort to irrigation.

Natural resources, however, of themselves are not sufficient to make prosperity. The heart of Africa possesses great natural resources; Mexico and Russia are both rich in natural resources, but it is not enough just to possess great resources—they must be used to advantages.

Are Using Resources

These natural resources are being used in Florida to a very large extent. Every year more and more agricultural development is in evidence. The growth of the citrus industry reads almost like a fairy tale, and it has not yet begun to reach its peak. I believe in the citrus industry, but Florida should not put all her agricultural eggs in one basket. Truck farms, vineyards, banana and sugar plantations should be encouraged. The grape vineyards which are being planted will not only add wealth to Florida, but serve also as an insurance. The citrus growers should also get behind the efforts being made to introduce fresh orange juice throughout the nation. These experiments must succeed or I greatly fear for Florida's citrus future.

Commends Exchange

In connection with these developments let me commend the Florida Citrus Exchange. It has been said that the success of a people is ultimately dependent upon their ability to co-operate. Surely the success of agriculture in Florida depends upon creating an extensive co-operative body which will insure efficiency to the planting, the gathering, and the selling of Florida's crop. Only by such an organization can over-production of certain lines and at certain times be avoided.

I am glad to see amongst Florida growers an increasing interest in (1) co-operation; (2) raising better fruit instead of more fruit; (3) canning the surplus. Statistics clearly indicate that the future of the citrus industry lies with not only canning, but in shipping orange juice as milk is shipped.

Would Be Saving

The Babson organization has secured figures which show that the juice of Florida oranges and grapefruit, extracted in Florida and shipped like milk, if shipped to New York as dother large cities daily, would be a great economic saving and would double or triple the consumption of citrus fruits. Orange juice costs 25 to 35 cents a glass in hotels and restaurants under present conditions. The consumer pays for the shipment of whole fruit to the market centers, pays for the time of expensive gourmet men who take the hulls away. Shipment of juice from the area of production to the area of consumption will effect an economic saving of importance and will go far toward increasing fruit consumption.

For Home Industries.

The industrial surface of Florida has not been scratched. We should be the manufacturing center for the southern section of the United States. High rail rates are incentives for home industries and this will be one of our incentives in Florida to build up industries. These are many essentials which a region must possess if it is to develop in manufacturing.

First, there must be capital. This, however, is extremely mobile.

The second essential is power. Being so near the oil fields of Mexico and Texas, Florida should have a central steam-mercury oil plant located at Tampa which would supply cheap electricity to the entire State. One reason why New England achieved an early and considerable growth in its manufacturing was because of its cheap water power. In those days location was a very important factor with reference to power. We have now reached the time, especially with the development of super power systems, when power has become almost as mobile as capital. The day will presently be here when practically unlimited electric power can be taken cheaply to any locality in north or central Florida.

Has Raw Material

The third essential is raw material. It is evident that on this point Florida scores heavily. Florida has actual or latent resources in lumber, agricultural product, livestock products and mineral products. It should begin to establish cotton mills, clothing factories, canning factories, furniture plants and the like.

Another essential to industrial growth is markets. It is true that in the past Florida has not been especially favored in nearness to domestic markets. The situation will be corrected in the future in two ways. First in the South itself there will grow up a greater population with resultant markets. Second, the continued development and improvement of transportation facilities will have the effect of bringing great markets in other parts of the country nearer to Florida.

Labor is Excellent

The final essential is labor. In some ways this is the most critical factor of all. Looking back over past experience you notice that wonderful progress has been made in materials, machinery, financial arrangements, power and every other element of manufacturing with the exception of the human element. Therefore, it is especially encouraging to find that this labor essential is the very point on which Florida may be able to offer advantages not fully shared by many other parts of the country. This is true for several reasons. First, the supply of white labor in Florida shows upon analysis a very large element described as 100 per cent pure American. Some people laugh at the "Florida Cracker," but I have found him reliable, industrious and exceptionally fair. Second, Florida has the opportunity of handling this labor in improved ways. In some Southern States there has been a tendency to concentrate labor in a few congested centers which, because of their very congestion, have been breeding places of radicalism. In Florida we have the opportunity of avoiding undue congestion and spreading out industrialism over a rather wide area in relatively small units. Moreover, there seems to be a recognition that it pays the employer to encourage not merely good working conditions, but also good living conditions.

Ford Has Plan.

I am much interested in a plan attributed to Mr. Henry Ford for developing new relations between industry and agriculture. Mr. Ford advocated, when talking to me last Winter, many small factories scattered throughout the State, each within the reach of farming or fruit-growing communities. His plan is that the workers will work part of the year in fields and the balance in the shops. It would seem that such a program has great possibilities.

Furthermore Florida has special advantages as the location of such combined manufacturing and farming regions. It is important to note that as true or cheap land becomes exhausted, the United States enters upon a new economic era. Florida has the opportunity to benefit by these changed conditions. Let us wake up and seize the opportunities. Moreover, let us do so, not with the spirit of money-grabbers, but with the spirit of service. Too much time and energy is being spent upon getting people to buy land in Florida and too little to showing people what to do with it. When we Florida people spend more thought in improving our neighbors, the sales and profits will come automatically, and no innocent Northern investor will be hurt.

Auto Factor

The almost instantaneous development of the automobile industry has not only produced great changes already, but will tend to even greater changes in the future. Thought the effects are not yet generally realized, the automobile has given a new importance to every city and grove in Florida. The smaller localities heretofore have always been handicapped by what the great cities could offer. The automobile is changing all this. It does not mean that the large city is any less important but rather that it will have a new role to play in the future. As I foresee, the Florida of the years ahead will contain many great cities each of which is surrounded over a wide area with numerous smaller localities.

The best thing I can point out in the way of definite figures for consideration is this fact. In the last four years in the United States as a whole, bank clearings increased from 10 to 15 per cent. I'll say 15 per cent to be absolutely fair. While in four Florida cities, Tampa, Jacksonville, Miami and Orlando, in the four years from 1919 to 1923 bank clearings increased 500 per cent. This is the real indication of Florida's advance and the figures may be taken as a source of pride.

THE THUMB OF THE UNITED STATES

George Matthews Adams writing in the Peoria Journal says:

I think of Florida as the thumb of the United States. And as the years accumulate the people of the United States are going to come to realize how important this thumb is.

I am vacationing in Florida now. I love it. Not all of it but much of it. It is destined to be the playground of half the country and much of the world, for people are coming here from all parts of Europe as well.

I meet those who haven't mean enough words to say about the State and those who have no words adequate to express their love of it. I like it because it spells opportunity and gives so much to health and openness of mind. I admire the courage of Flager, Fisher and others who have made this state rise from its bleakness and shell rock.

Florida is in the making, and everything has its faults in such a state of transition.

This space is too small in which to sing of the opportunities all Florida holds for men and women. Its hidden wealth is yet to be mined. But it has an unwritten motto: "Abandon all care who enter here."

The business man who comes here has plenty to attract his attention. And he is so far from home that he can actually rest and go back bigger and better, ready for larger tasks, with a body refreshed and rebuilt from the sunshine and stimulation of the blue sea.

If I were asked to rename this state, or rather to give it a personality other than that which it has, I would refer to it as Dr. Florida! Florida doctors folks up—makes them well and strong through its marvelous climate.

I get inspiration from the increasing number of farms and groves that echo so much of peace and plenty as well as of contentment of mind.

The United States should be very proud of its "Thumb", for it is so necessary to its growth and happiness as a nation.

NORTH IS FLORIDA-MAD

An astounding proportion of New York's population is emigrating to Florida. Although the movement must be reckoned by the hundred-thousands and is probably the greatest emigration since the Southwestern oil field rush of two decades ago, it has received up to this time very little newspaper attention, when a checkup by the Daily Mirror reveals its magnitude.

Main highways leading to Florida from New York are choked by almost unbroken lines of New York cars. Except in the vicinity of large cities, where local cars predominate, New York cars on the highways outnumber all others.

The great number of Florida-bound cars bearing New York licenses attract attention on every road leading southward from New York, but their tremendous majority over others is strikingly apparent south of Washington.

An actual count at a bridge at Falmouth, Va., on a main thoroughfare, last Wednesday between 2 and 3 p. m. revealed that 294 cars passed southward during the hour, 217 of them from New York. Reckoning an average number of four occupants, it indicates that the impressive number of 868 New Yorkers passed southward in that spot during that one hour.

That the number is not unusual, was testified by James Ashby, circuit court clerk at Stafford Courthouse, Va., located on the same highway. Mr. Ashby is building a large hotel as an overnight accommodation to Florida-bound New York tourists. He said the number of New Yorkers have increased daily for a month ,and that few intend return-

VALUE OF HOME EASILY REALIZED

Home ownership's economy is best exemplified by the situation in Jacksonville at present, according to A. C. Skinner of Skinner Brothers Realty Company, 532 West Forsyth street, Jacksonville, Fla. Mr. Skinner says that never before has he seen the value of owning a home demonstrated so strikingly as in this city today.

"The individual must be sold on the advisability and sensibility of buying a home and getting out from under the fluctuations of the rental system." Mr. Skinner, declared. Naturally, he will argue that there is great responsibility in owning a home, with payments and upkeep. Yet he will realize, if the matter is properly presented to him, that the financial responsibility is little heavier than the regular outgo of rent payments, with nothing but a stack of receipts to show at the end of long years.

"When a man buys a home, he is given a new classification in his community, making for stability. He rises in the estimation of his fellow townsmen and makes a better neighbor. It also gives him confidence.

"My advice to the home buyer or builder in prospect is to consider carefully the type of house and the amount of money that he can put into the proposition, making all allowances for emergencies. If he does these things, none of which are unusual in the usual trend of everyday business life, he will enjoy his home and its comforts.

"Every man likes the idea and flirts with the dream of being his own boss in business. Owning his home gives the same independence."

Skinner Brothers handle acreage, business property, houses, and vacant lots.

More than half of the Florida-bound New York cars are Fords, but there are plenty of more expensive cars. Nearly all of the autos are heavily loaded with baggage.

Your Birthday Is it this week?

NOVEMBER 22—28

If your birthday is this week, courage and determination are the most marked characteristics of your nature. Desiring always to create an impression, you sometimes take upon yourself burdens and responsibilities that seem far beyond your strength, but your clear grit and enormous reserve power enables you to carry the load, and endure the stress, where weaker natures would fail utterly.

Persons born under these dates are not generally popular—they are either loved greatly or very much disliked—there is no in-between. Yet when cultured, they are the most fascinating and companionable persons one would care to meet.

The woman, while rather impatient and blunt of speech, make very good mothers and rule the household. Outside affairs do not appeal to them. The men have remarkable talents, and can reach the greatest heights in any vocation that demands supreme coolness, self-confidence and courage.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE TO LEGISLATURE SHORTEST EVER GIVEN TO BODY

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—In one of the briefest communications possibly ever delivered before a lawmaking body of Florida, Governor Martin today, in his message to the extraordinary session of the legislature, which convened here this morning, asked for speed in the enactment of the laws.

The message, read before a joint session of the senate and house of representatives, was scarcely more than 175 words in length. Only a few moments were consumed in its reading.

The governor's communication was couched in about the same language which made up his recent proclamation, calling the legislature into special session. Certain legislation was greatly needed, because of the "extraordinary conditions of growth and progress now being made in the state of Florida, and the expansion and development of the state in every particular," the executive declared.

Governor Martin then called for action on the Monroe water supply district bill, local legislation that had been advertised in accordance with the law, and legislation of a municipal nature, needed in the state now.

The final paragraph of the executive's message was devoted to a request for speed and an early adjournment, "which will save the tax-payers of this state great expense and enable you to return to your homes and engage in your own respective businesses."

Governor Martin's message in full follows:

"To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Florida:

"In view of the extraordinary conditions of growth and progress now being made in the state of Florida, and the expansion and development of the state in every particular, I have deemed it advisable to call you in extraordinary session for the purpose of enacting legislation that will promote this growth and encourage the progress of the state.

"In heeding with my proclamation, I urge the enactment of such legislation as is contained in the said proclamation, namely:

"An act creating the Monroe water supply district.

"The enactment of local legislation that has been advised in accordance with the law.

"The enactment of needed legislation of municipal nature.

"May I suggest to you the wisdom of a speedy enactment of these measures into laws, looking toward an early adjournment, which will save the tax payers of this state great expense and enable you to return to your homes and engage in your own respective businesses."

FLORIDA MIGRATION SETS A NEW RECORD FOR THE UNITED STATES

In view of Florida's announcement that 800,000 pioneers de luxe have settled within her borders during the last two years, it appears that a genuine migration of population has been the basis of her land boom, says the New York Times. The migration to Florida apparently outstrips both in numbers and speed the previous migrations of Americans, and there have been many of them. No such figures as 800,000 appears in any of the accounts of the earlier movements, certainly not in connection with any two-year period.

Even the most cursory examination of population movements in the United States shows that while we have delighted in books and screen dramas of pioneer movements, there has taken place to the South of us a living drama of migration the counterpart in essence, if not in appearance, of those very movements which form so picturesque a part of the country's history.

Although the figures o fpeople on the march in the spectacular movements of earlier days are more or less vague, a checking up of the pioneers at destination reveal that these migrations were small when compared with the modern ones.

The Earlier Movements

California, whose gold rush in 1849 was perhaps the most spectacular of all, is credited with only 92,597 people by the census of 1850. Ten years later, in 1860 she had but 379,994 only a few more than the number of people who have settled in Florida in the last two years.

Oregon, which lay at the end of the rainbow in a movement that set pioneering instinct aflame throughout the nation in the 1840s, is given only 12,394 people by the census of 1850. Ten years later her population stood at 52,465.

The Mormon pilgrimage to Utah is another example. Accounts of the movement say that 12,000 wagons and 15,000 people took the trail. They left Missouri and the East in groups of varying size over a period of two years from 1846 to 1848. The census of 1850 indicates that they had not all arrived when it was taken, for it gives the entire population of the State at 11,380. The figures for ten years show an increase to 40,273.

In the same way one need not go beyond five figures to number the main body of those who rushed to the Klondike, to the opening of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory, to Colorado and Kansas in the stampede which took place in 1858 under the banner, "Pike's Peak or Bust." The census of 1860 gives Colorado 34,277 people, and this number had increased only to 39,864 ten years later. Kansas, however, enters the lists of the census figures of 1860 with a few more than 100,000 people. It was here, ninety miles to the south of Denver, that the gold strike took place. "Pike's Peak" became its byword simply because it was the only geographical landmark in the vicinity that meant anything to the people back East.

The Drift to the West

To be sure the figures of separate migrations lose sight of the fact that not tens of thousands but millions must be used to number the pioneers who made up the more gradual Western drift during the same periods. Their case was different, however.

With them it was a combination of economic pressure from behind and a desire to obtain more fertile land. Individually and as small groups their stories were not less picturesque than those of the pioneers who took part in the stampedes. They were, however, units in a great movement which they themselves did not recognize. Were it not for the fact that the trails were few and the drift took place in one general direction, these slower movements might have passed unnoticed at the time. They were steady, but neither so feverish nor so spectacular as the outstanding stampedes.

As distinct from the Florida boom, there have been other modern movements more nearly akin to the slower drift to the West in the '40s, '50s and '60s. They have, nevertheless, played an important part in the distribution of population in this country.

Among them is the northward march of the negro which began during the World War, when the munition factories sought labor in all parts of the country. The negro laborer found the Northern atmosphere congenial. Wages were high, the standard of living was better, there were schools for his children. He passed the word back home to his friends and relatives. They began to come North in large numbers. They are still coming and it is estimated that several hundred thousand colored people have moved from the South in the last ten years. This migration is one of the most extensive in American history, and it has had its effect upon labor conditions in the Southern States.

The negro migration, like most of the others, originated in the desire of the people to improve their living conditions. The pot of gold at the end of the rainbow has usually furnished the excuse for a movement of people amounting at times to a stampede. Sometimes the lure was real gold locked in the rock; sometimes the lure was free rich land; again it was the discovery of oil-bearing lands.

How Florida's Lure Was Spread

While the prospect of wealth is now attracting many people to Florida, the lure at first concerned health, not wealth. Not so many years ago, Florida was known to the North only as a sparsely settled State, with a romantic background. It had several picturesque cities on Spanish origin, and a mysterious swamp called the Everglades in which lived Seminole Indians. It was not a picture to stir the blood of one with the pioneering instinct, though some agricultural pioneers went to Florida and found wealth in fruit growing and truck farming.

There came a day when Northern physicians sent their patients to Florida to bask in the warm sunlight of the Winter days. It was not until these people had written home to the thousand and one communities whence they came that the rest of the world began to take notice of Florida. When the news spread, the pioneers were joined by large bodies of volunteer invalids whose only malady was an ache for a nice warm place to spend the Winter.

Then came the hotel man and after him the man who is known as a realtor. The latter spreads the fame of Florida to the corners of America.

When stories of the double-twisted lure of a fine climate and profitable land began to filter through the country the stage was set for another American migration. It was not, however, to be a migration of the poor, and in that the Florida movement differs from all the rest. Not wealth to then "broke" but ease and comfort to the man of means, therefore, was the picture that took hold. When a wealthy man, after sloshing about in the slush of a Winter storm returned home in the evening, his thoughts turned to the stories of sunny Florida. The picture was one of gentle breezes, luscious fruits, comfort without effort. With this picture in mind and money in the bank, what was there to do? What, indeed, except buy a ticket. And this apparently is how it all started.

Growth of Population

In looking over the history of stampedes one discovers an arresting analogy between the size of migratory movements and totals of population in 1790, when a few thousand pioneers first crossed the Eastern mountains to new land beyond, there were but 4,000,000 people in what is now the United States. In 1810, when thousands had trekked as far west as Illinois, there were 7,000,000. In 1830 when Illinois and Indiana were filling up and more people were marching to Michigan and Iowa, there were 13,000,000.

In 1840, when the covered wagons first broke a trail into Wisconsin, the population stood at 17,000,000. By 1850, when the lure of gold led clear across the continent, there were 23,000,000 people. In 1860, when 50,000pioneers had broken the trail to Oregon, the figure stood at 31,000,000. As population increased, the migratory movements increased in size.

In 1890 Florida had 528,542 people, no matter what the lure.

In 1920 she had 968,470. Whatever the figure may read in 1930 depends upon the momentum of her present stampede, of which the end, apparently, is not yet. The Federal Government has recently taken cognizance of the boom by withdrawing what little is now left of Florida's public lands from entry under the Homestead act. The withdrawal, according to Washington, has been made to foil the speculators. After real estate prices in the State have settled to a more placid level, the Government may sell its lands. It is said that these parcels include many little islands along the coast.

Some of the people of Virginia apparently believe that the Florida trek is still on, for they are organizing a movement to cool the ardor of those Virginians who seem to be itching to pull up stakes and join it. They have requested a special session of the Legislature to consider ways and means.

No matter where the movement stops or how large it grows, the display of natural migratory instincts which it has accentuated discounts the theory that America's frontiers have vanished in the sense that there are to be no more great movements of population within the country. After what has happened in Florida, there is reason to believe that other and greater movements may follow until the United States reaches the 200,000,000 population mark which scientists agree will be its saturation point, provided methods of food production do not change beyond all expectation.

KISSIMMEE MAN BURNED TO DEATH IN BOAT EIGHT MILES OUT ON LAKE

Porter Nettles, 21, of Kissimmee, died at 11 o'clock Friday night at the Orange General hospital where he was removed following fatal burns received about 6 o'clock last evening when of the Rosles Lumber company of a gasoline stove exploded on a boat Pine Castle, eight miles from Kissimmee, about on mile off the Steer beach point.

It was a grewsome sight for the companions of Nettles as the young man was terribly burned, yet left conscious and able to talk during the race to Kissimmee where he was wrapped in cotton bandages by Dr. Haynes Brinson. The speed boat was near the lumber boat, but did not realize what the explosion was until the boat put a distress signal. T. J. Mellec and Harry Cornell were in the speed boat and in less than 45 minutes had Nettles under the care of Dr. Brinson of Kissimmee.

It was estimated that only one pint of gasoline was in the stove at the time of the explosion. Nettles' clothes were thoroughly saturated with the gasoline and all of his clothes burned with the exception of a belt and shoes. In most places the skin and flesh was burned to a crisp. How he survived until 11 o'clock is unaccounted for. A. C. Weeks, who was with Nettles, was painfully burned on the hands in attempting to extinguish the fire blazing from the body of his companion.

Porter Nettles celebrated his 21st birthday only four days ago. Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nettles, four brothers and two sisters.—Kissimmee Daily Gazette of Nov. 20.

WOMANS IMPROVEMENT CLUB

The Womans Improvement Club held its regular meeting Wednesday, November 18th. In the absence of the secretary Mrs. George, Mrs. Grace Liggett acted as secretary. The different reports were read and approved. There was quite a discussion in regard to having a bird sanctuary, but no definite plans were decided upon. The members pledged themselves to observe Golden Rule Sunday. A committee was appointed to confer with the pastors of the different churches in regard to the matter.

The program for the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Nettie Severn. The subject was "The Romance of Rare books." Mrs. Severn gave a very interesting talk on rare books and explained why they are rare. The questionaire in which all the club had a part proved the members well up in literature both ancient and modern. Mrs. Lou Hendrix talked on "The Arabian Knights," and how they came to the English speaking world.

News notes were given by different members of the club after which a motion to adjourn to meet December 2d was carried.

DR. J. G. CHERRY ARRIVES HOME AFTER TOUR OF FLA.

After a tour of Florida Dr. J. C. Cherry upon his arrival in Ambles, Pa., his home town in one of the articles he wrote for his home paper, has this to say about St. Cloud:

"Of all the places I have seen in Florida, the climate seems best around St. Cloud, owing to its location and natural advantages. The beautiful East Lake Tohopegaliga, which means "sleeping tiger," is nine miles long and seven miles wide, a drive of 35 miles around. In the days before the time of the white man on the shores of this beautiful lake came the Indians, who knew of the wonderful healing powers of the water. Here it was where the Indian Chiefs sent their sick and wounded that they might recover health and rest and become strong, brave warriors again. The barber can walk out a hundred feet or more before it is over his head with white sand all the way.

During his stay in St. Cloud Mr. Cherry was the guest of his friend Bob Gregor, of the G. C. Hunter Co. selling Gallon Gardens. This week Mr. Grigor received word from Mr. Cherry that he wanted to buy two lots in Gallon Gardens. One article like the above with reference to Florida kills many of the misrepresentations that are being circulated in the northern papers.

BERT C. HAVILAND

NORTHERN EDITORIAL SLAIMS AT FLORIDA MERELY BOOMERANGS

By G. W. WEIPPERT

The attitude taken by some Florida organizations in regard to the attacks made by certain Northern newspapers and financial institutions against investments in this State is amusing.

What is the use of fretting about things that are unavoidable? The exodus to Florida from the East and Middle West naturally causes local dissatisfaction.

By some it is expressed in vituperation, by others in thinly-veiled sarcasm and ridicule, but the stream of emigration flows along merrily. In the end nobody is hurting except the kickers, because Florida is not a gold brick and invites investigation.

There has never been a good thing in America's social or industrial life which did not win out in the end, in spite of opposition or antagonism. We have been told that people made a pathway to the little shop of the man who made a better mouse trap industry. They made him comfortably rich in spite of himself. The same principle applies to cities, counties and States. Communities which afford people a chance to live in comfort, amid pleasant surroundings, will attract the masses; and that is why Florida ,whose wonderful possibilities are just beginning to be recognized ,is the Mecca of all Americans, even those who have to reach the "stars through difficulties" as did the pioneer settlers of the country west of the Mississippi.

The hope of being able to establish a home in Florida is, to my certain knowledge ,nation-wide. After a painstaking investigation, covering a period of seven months, I am qualified to prove by facts and figures that the yearning for Florida is not confined to real estate speculators and the so-called idle rich. Inquiries received by the chamber of commerce, with which I am connected from forty-seven States of the Union and five Canadian provinces can be divided roughly as follows:

Investors, 12 per cent; Winter visitors, 18 per cent; artisans and laborers, 32 per cent; farmers, including dairymen, poultrymen, horticulturists and truck growers, 40 per cent; real estate dealers, 8 per cent.

These figures disprove most emphatically the wild statements circulated in the North that homes in Florida are sought only by those who have money enough to exploit persons of limited means.

A short time ago I received a letter from a man in Ohio, a farmer and dairyman, who said: "My banker told me that Florida is no place for farmers. What do you think about it? He doesn't want me to leave here." In answer I told him the plain unvarnished truth—that in the course of a single year 2,500,000 acres of cultivated land in this state produced 84,000 cars of fruits and vegetables, 15,000 bushels of cereals, beans and peas, 125,000 tons of hay, 115,000 barrels of syrup, 4,500,000 pounds of tobacco, 2,000,000 pounds of pecans, 12,000,000 bales of cotton, $25,000,000 worth of livestock, dairy, poultry and apiary products, amounting in value to approximately $100,000,000

I told him also that Florida leads all other States in Winter-grown vegetables ,in growing days, in diversity of food products ,variety of crops, in grapefruit ,celery, Winter-grown tomatoes, cocoanuts, watermelon seed and in variety of hay crops; that it is second in oranges and watermelons, third in lettuce and fourth in cabbage; that it has a copious rainfall and can grow more crops on the same land in a single season than any other State.

The argument went home Although not long-winded, it told the story of the State's wonderful resources in a few truthful words. The man came down here ,and found that by cultivating one-fourth of the land he tilled in Ohio, he could earn more money and with less effort.

He will start a dairy farm in Polk County after harvesting his corn crop.

Many others will follow his example ,and within another decade the muck lands of Central Florida will be one continuous vegetable garden and the highlands a vast citrus grove. Such a development is inevitable ,because Florida needs to be seen to be appreciated . As the Ohio man said: "Why didn't I come down here ten years ago and grow up with the country instead of half freezing to death every Winter and combatting drouth and heat in the Summer?" Thousands will ask themselves the same question after they begin to realize just what we have to offer to them in the way of fertile soil, climate, culture and transportation.

The present influx of producers and capitalists is not apasm . It is the natural result of a universal desire to improve one's condition. Neither is it an accident. It is the result of publicity, backed by what a commercial salesman would call "the goods." In this era of advertising, the historic mouse-trap maker, no matter how excellent his wares—could not dispose of this stock without advertising. Neither can a community or a commonwealth sell itself without legitimate propaganda.

It is estimated that the State, countries and cities and the transportation lines and hotels of Florida will spend about $5,000,000 in advertising this fall and winter.

There is no doubt that this vast expenditure will prove a wise investment, but too many are prone to lose sight of the fact that the foundation of the State's wide fame was laid, without money and without price, by its newspapers . For many many years the city and country press was the only medium which gave expression to and circulated the marvelous story of Florida's climatic and agricultural advantages and resources. It was a labor of love ,so conscientiously performed that it made itself felt everywhere.

And from the earliest period of the State's development until this day, the missionary work of the press has been carried on without interruption.

Newspapers Helped Most

The service rendered by the great dailies of Tampa, Jacksonville and Miami in telling the world of Florida's great glory cannot be estimated in dollars and cents, but it has become part of the State's history.

It was the activity of the press which aroused interest in and stimulated capital to develop the State. The newspapers found Florida and introduced it to the men who had the means and controlled the channels of selling it to the nation. The Flaglers and Plants, through the same agency, succeeded in enlisting capital for the construction of railroad and the same patriotil press fostered the building of good roads.

Florida will always be a State of diversified industries and a diversified population. It is too great to be monopolized by pleasure seekers. It offers too many opportunities for the thrifty to become rich, for the investor to double his money, for the manufacturer to sell his products, to be a mere playground. It is bound to be an industrial commonwealth, with agriculture, the foundation of all wealth, as its base.

It will, of course, always be a favorite Winter retreat for the rich and the idle, but, like everywhere else, they will be in the minority. But its destiny will be controlled, as it should be, by the workers on its farms and in its workshops; by its merchants and professional men; by the great middle class which is, and always will be, the backbone of American civilization. To be a Floridian is destined to be a rare distinction, even before the present generation shall pass away, because all that is best in America will find expression among the generation now growing up in every section of our great peninsula.

The material and cultural progress of Florida cannot be stopped by attacks from the outside, but it can be delayed by shortsightedness at home, of which there are some evidences.

Since the first of the year it has been apparent that Florida will be deluged by an unprecedented flood of visitors from every part of the United States.

Subdivisions by the thousands have been recorded in practically every city, village and hamlet, in the hope that every newcomer will buy at least one of the lots laid out for him so temptingly. But, alas, but few towns have made even an attempt to provide shelter for the expected guests.

This is poor merchandising. The two first needs of the human being are food and shelter. Do you think a man will stay in a place where he cannot obtain a fair quality of either? You do not. Would you be tempted to spend a week or two in New York, Chicago ,Kokomo or Kalamazoo if you had to do without any of the numerous conveniences which are a part of well-regulated American life? Would you subject your family to hardships and annoyances?

Marshall Field, the greatest American merchant of all times, and the most successful ,instructed his salesmen never to offer anything to a customer until it could be shown to good advantage. Fifteen mile sware agreed upon on the Lake William road, four miles on the Hilliard Island road, five miles on the Narcoossee road, and eight miles to Kissimmee Park. Four and one-half miles will be built through Center Park to East Lake Tohopekaliga, and along the lake shore to the city limits of St. Cloud. Ten miles will be built from the Dixie Highway through Osceola City, on the Pleasant Hill road.

A NARROW ESCAPE:

A number of local men were talking in (name cigar store) about a doctor who had lost so many cases and (name) said:

"I th'nk doctors are the bunk and the yean't do anything even the they did save my life once."

"How did they save your life?"

"Well I was sick and I went to a doctor and he was out."

Father used to cut his old trousers down so son could wear them but mother now wears her young daughter's dresses without any trouble at all.

NOT SO DUMB

"Mother, who is the biggest woman in town?"

"I think Mrs. Smith, who lives down the street is the biggest. Why do you ask?"

"Oh nothing, I was just wondering if she'll lend me one of her stockings. I'd give it right back after Christmas."

NATIONAL HEALTH AIM OF RED CROSS PROGRAM

Nurses Guard Community Health; Home Hygiene and Nutrition Featured.

The increasing appreciation by the American people of the value of a national health structure is reflected in the comprehensive machinery built up by the American Red Cross and kept in constant operation in the past year, in the interest of national health.

Instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, in nutrition; inspection of school children, the maintenance of an effective nursing service, all formed a part of the Red Cross organization assisting in keeping America well.

Altogether 51,121 students were instructed in home hygiene and care of the sick, including 31,430 school students, of whom 20,381 received certificates. This work reached the Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Girl Reserves; also telephone companies, public and private schools, community and industrial groups. An unusual fact of this service was its adaption to the needs of the blind, through transcription of the text book in Braille print.

The year's work also demonstrated a growing understanding and appreciation on the part of Red Cross field representatives, chapters, co-operating agencies and others, of the place of nutrition in community programs, looking to community health.

There were 2,300 dietitians enrolled during the year; regular nutrition instruction reached 153,065 children; 20,359 adults attended nutrition meetings, while 1,385 schools were aided in furnishing lunches.

Co-operative relationships were established with various Government and educational agencies in making this branch of the Red Cross health work more effective.

Another of the health-promoting activities of the Red Cross lies in its public health nursing service. There are nearly 1,000 such nurses serving in every part of the country.

As an invaluable reservoir in time of a great national emergency, there is enrolled under the Red Cross banner a reserve of 42,002 nurses. In a number of disasters during the past year in which the Red Cross has aided, and where the services of the nurses were required, they have been among the first to mobilize.

At Lorain, O., last year 34 enrolled Red Cross nurses were engaged in relief work, while 134 were employed in the mid-west tornado disaster relief operation of this year. The work of Mrs. Dorothy Davis Sleichter, a Red Cross public health nurse stationed at Fairbanks, Alaska, in checking a flu epidemic at Fort Yukon, in the Arctic, has won praise from all who knew of it.

It is to assist in maintaining such valuable services to the community that the American Red Cross invites members during its ninth annual roll call, November 11 to 26, the only such appeal which the Red Cross makes in the year.

No appeal is so international as that to the humanity of every people. The sum of $1.50 from a Japanese boy in Tokio to the Santa Barbara relief fund bespeaks a world of friendship, engendered by the American Red Cross.

When the mariners on the high seas enroll 100 per cent. in the American Red Cross, should you lag behind?

Join the American Red Cross whose work is your expression of your human impulses.

The state has five trunk line railroads, eleven steamship lines and a half dozen year-round ports on the ocean and gulf.

RED CROSS AID TO VETS MOUNTING

Heavier Demands for War Service Laid to New Legislation Granting Wide Benefits.

ACTIVE FORCES AIDED ALSO

Duty to Ex-Service and Service Men First Responsibility of the Red Cross.

A marked increase in the service given by the American Red Cross to ex-service men, through Chapters, hospitals, Government and Red Cross offices during the past year, and which volume is expected to be maintained during most of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, is shown in the reports of the war service activities of the organization, just completed.

Service to the disabled and to men now in active service continued to be one of the primary obligations of the Red Cross. The increased activities in this regard were attributed largely to the legislation giving new benefits to ex-service men.

The keystone of the Red Cross service lies in the Home Service work of the chapters to veterans and men still in service. At the close of the fiscal year June 30, 1925, 3,591 Chapters were active in this work and had expended approximately $2,237,000.

Included in their work was assistance to ex-service men in making out adjusted compensation papers, in the handling of claims reopened, or made possible under liberalized terms of the World War Veterans' Act of 1924; and in many other ways.

An unusual amount of legislation passed by Congress and State bodies has necessitated the issue of much new material in the past year. Legislation was passed during the year liberalizing conditions applying to hospitalization, compensation and other benefits under the Veterans' Bureau; this in turn has entailed reopening of many claims formerly disallowed, filing of many new ones, and many applications for hospitalization. The Claims Service at National Headquarters this year handled 17,504 in comparison with 12,019 cases the previous year.

Increased service to men in hospitals was noted, as well is the number of hospitals in which service was maintained by the organization. Due to new legislation an increase of over 6,000 patients were admitted for hospitalization, a new peak approximating that of March 1919. Since a large number of this group includes patients not eligible for compensation, the solution of their personal and family problems has involved careful study by the National Organization

There are 30,000 disabled ex-service men in Government hospitals every day of the year, and their need has directly led to a revival of the best-known and perhaps most popular activity the Red Cross sponsored in war —a new campaign for knitted "Red Cross sweaters." These articles are among the few not furnished by the Government.

For the men still on active duty in the Army, Navy and Marines, the Red Cross during the year maintained Field Directors at all important stations, camps, and hospitals of these armed forces of the country

A monthly average of 96,271 service and ex-service men were aided by the Red Cross during the year.
